Hitler's Legions Drive Deeper Into Greece

GERMANS CLAIM THERMOPYLAE'S CAPTURE VITAL

Bitter Rear Guard Action Carried On By British Reported Smashed

Berlin Declares Empire Hurdled Australians Into Losing Stand

ATHENS, April 25—Overcoming the Greek garrison, German troops early today occupied the Greek island of Lemnos, southwest of the Dardanelles, according to information in Athens. Greek troops and island police fought the invaders for more than four hours, it was stated.

ATHENS, April 25—The Greek high command held a firm grip on the ancient capital of Athens today as British and Hellenic warriors to the north battled to stem the German military juggernaut.

BERLIN, April 25—German forces have captured historic Thermopylae Pass and advanced further south toward Athens after smashing through bitter rear guard resistance, it was announced in Berlin today.

Panzer divisions, flinging their full weight against Anglo-Greek defenders of the famous pass, where centuries ago Leonidas and 300 Spartans gave their lives to halt the Persians, gained control of the ancient battle ground yesterday, the announcement said.

Numerous guns and large amounts of war material were said to have been captured by the German forces, which were reported pressing irresistibly forward against the Greek capital.

Thermopylae Pass, German quarters said, had been studied with British defensive material, including large amounts of artillery which was trapped in the treacherous canyons and could not be moved out.

Since the bulk of the B.E.F. material could not be moved southward in time, it was claimed, Australian troops were hurled "like gun fodder" into the path of the advancing Germans to hold up the main Panzer columns as long as possible.

Every incline, mountain tunnel and cliff was transformed into a firing point, military dispatches said, but the Germans were declared to have "stormed" the pass and thus opened the road toward Athens. It was understood that numerous Australian troops were taken prisoner.

Began Monday

The great battle at the pass began on Monday and reached a furious peak on Tuesday when, it was stated, the Germans smashed what the British had considered a formidable mountain breastwork (Continued on Page Three)

BUNNY Hartley, 23, once a model and now a beautiful movie starlet, is recovering in a Santa Monica, Cal., hospital from the effects of taking too many sleeping tablets in what police say was an attempt to take her own life. One of three notes she left in her Beverly Hills apartment was to her former husband, James Feeley, life with whom sometimes had led her into eastern police courts and the headlines. The note to Feeley said, "There isn't much to say to you except that I love you."

"SAVE BRITAIN" PLAN DRAFTED

Program Is Designed To Assure Flow Of Vital Materials To Isles

By Kingsbury Smith
WASHINGTON, April 25—A "save Great Britain" plan has been drafted by the United States government, it was learned on high authority today.

The plan, formulated by State and Navy Department experts with the collaboration of other branches of the government, is designed to assure the flow of vital war supplies across the Atlantic to the British Isles.

Exact details of how the plan proposes to meet the menace of German submarine and aerial attacks on British shipping constitute a "defense secret" which government officials say can be divulged only by President Roosevelt.

Four Features

However, the plan is understood to include the following general features.

1—Use of the American navy on "protective surveillance" patrol duty along the shipping routes far out into the Atlantic;

2—Use of Greenland as an advance base of operations for American naval and aerial patrols as well as a "stepping stone" for the shipment of supplies to Great Britain;

3—Requisitioning of several hundred American vessels for the "bridge of ships" across the North Atlantic;

4—More active participation by the United States in the economic blockade of Germany.

The plan, it was learned, will be (Continued on Page Three)

BOYS REACHING 21 TO REGISTER IN MID-SUMMER

July 1 Seen As Likely Date For Next Sign Up For Service In Army

MILLION ARE AVAILABLE

Conscripts May Enroll To Remain For Duration Of Emergency

WASHINGTON, April 25—The second registration day under the National Draft Law for youths who have reached 21 since last October 1 will be held about July 1, it was learned today as a growing belief was expressed in Washington that conscripts now in the Army would serve for the duration of the emergency, instead of one year.

It is expected that approximately 1,000,000 youths will register in July, and high military officials indicated that these new registrants will be called into the service almost immediately.

More than 400,000 of the 16- to 20-year-olds who were registered last year already have been inducted into the Army, and a total of 600,000 is expected to be called up by July 1.

After July 1, according to plans of National Draft officials, about 60,000 conscripts will be inducted into the Army a month. The Army plans to draw as many as it can from the 1,000,000 youths registering in July.

These reasons are assigned: (1) younger men are more adaptable to army training; (2) they are healthier; (3) they have fewer dependents; (4) most of them are not engaged in essential National Defense jobs.

Lottery Considered

It was originally planned to hold the second registration day sometime in September. However, plans being made moved the date up to July so that the youths coming of the age of 21 will know by Labor Day whether they could enter college or business. After registration, a lottery will be held to determine in what order they are called up, and this lottery, too, will be before Labor Day.

Meanwhile, there is a growing belief that conscripts being inducted this fiscal year will be kept in the Army for the duration of the emergency. As far as can be (Continued on Page Three)

SOVIET STRIVING TO HALT BERLIN, ISTANBUL BREAK

By James E. Brown

LONDON, April 25—With German control of the Dardanelles already an almost accomplished fact, Soviet Russia is utilizing all her resources to preserve peace between Germany and Turkey, a high Soviet source told this correspondent today.

No real crisis exists as yet, this informant said. German propagandists have stirred up a new "war of nerves" regarding Turkey, he declared, in an effort to distract British attention from the imminent possibility of a Nazi drive through Spain against Gibraltar.

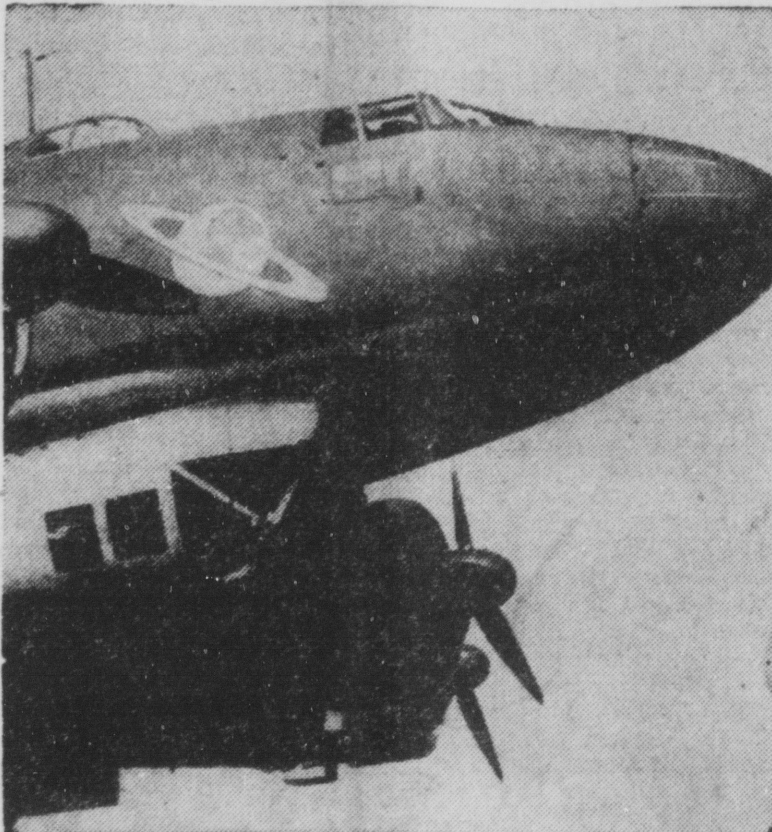

The Turkish government has made known its determination to resist aggression to the full extent of its powers. But it is no secret that Turkish resistance can be nothing more than a gesture without direct Soviet aid.

German control of the Dardanelles—virtually achieved by military seizure of the Greek islands of Samothrace and Lemnos—is a bitter pill for the Russians to swallow.

"The Germans could be in Istanbul in two days," a Soviet spokesman said today.

The Kremlin, it was said, is hoping for some reasonable Turkish-German agreement whereby Turkey will retain nominal control of the straits.

Insignia Shows Nazi Aims

HERE is the first close-up picture that Berlin censors have passed showing Germany's new four-engined Condor bomber for which the Nazis are making extravagant claims as to speed, range and carrying capacity. Note the encircled world insignia.

Enemy Bomber Forces Exchange Heavy Blows

BERLIN, April 25—German planes hammered the British seaport and naval base of Portsmouth during the night, starting 30 large fires, it was announced in Berlin today.

In addition, it was claimed, German planes east of Dundee sank five strongly convoyed merchant ships aggregating 14,000 tons and damaged an additional 10,000 tons of shipping.

LONDON, April 25—Strong British bomber formations pounded the northwestern German naval bases of Kiel and Wilhelmshaven during the night, starting fires in shipyards and industrial areas, the Air Ministry announced today.

Late this morning a lone German raider bombed a south coast English town, causing a number of casualties and slight damage. Fighters intercepted the bomber and shot it down.

The Air Ministry communique detailing the RAF attacks stated: "During the hours of daylight yesterday an enemy tanker was set on fire off the coast of Norway and almost certainly was destroyed."

"Last night Kiel and Wilhelmshaven were attacked by strong bomber formations. Kiel was the main objective. Fires were raised in shipyards and industrial areas."

"At Wilhelmshaven docks and shipyards were doomed. Docks and other objectives along the coasts of Norway, Holland, Belgium and France were attacked."

LONDON—The great mine field sown by Britain in the Mediterranean to cut communications between Italy and her African Empire has been extended, the British admiralty announced today. The announcement said the extension of the mines includes all shallow waters east of a line drawn from Cape St. Maria Di Leuca, on the heel of the Italian boot, to Bengazi, Libya, with the exception of Turkish territorial waters.

ROME—Italian forces have completed occupation of the northern Epirus section of Greece and Italian planes bombed British warships anchored in the bay of Suda at the island of Crete, the Italian high command announced today. Early yesterday, the war bulletin stated, British planes bombed the island of Rhodes.

CONGRESS BLOC TO SEEK SLASH OF EXPENDITURE

WASHINGTON, April 25—Stunned by the treasury's proposed $3-500,000,000 tax program, a bi-partisan movement was launched in the House Ways and Means Committee today to attach a "rider" directing President Roosevelt to slash non-defense expenditures by $1,000,000,000.

The drastic proposal was discussed as members recoiled from the stiff income tax boosts on low income groups urged by the treasury to help pay for the huge cost of rearmament.

Meeting in closed session today with the public to be invited to hearings next week, members of the committee searched for substitute proposals for the treasury program.

One group of members tentatively suggested a tax on imports. This would mean a tax on coffee and sugar and was flatly rejected by treasury experts as being productive of little revenue.

Despite Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau's proposal for strict economy in non-defense expenditures, little hope for cuts was held out by congressional leaders in charge of fiscal affairs.

Tomorrow will be regular collection day for The Daily Herald carriers. Please have your change ready.

Berlin Attacks U.S. 'War Gang'

Small Group Of "Irresponsible" Mongers Charged With Trying To Put Uncle Sam Into European Continent's Strife

BERLIN, April 25—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox's speech drew a sharp protest from the Wilhelmstrasse today and brought bitter criticism of what German authorities termed a "small tribe of irresponsible persons trying to plunge the United States into war against the wishes of the American people."

German authoritative quarters denied that the Reich is hostile toward the American people but declared:

"Our enemy is the well known war gang—Knox, Secretary of War Stimson, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter and that smart-aleck Donovan (Col. William J. Donovan, who recently toured Europe as military observer for President Roosevelt.)"

"Their aggressive attitude is comparable to that of the wild west gunmen who point revolvers at others to make them sing the same tune."

"Secretary of State Hull at least spoke more diplomatically."

"Events in the Balkans dealt an awful blow to the beautiful forecasts of the war gang, compelling them to cry aloud in an effort to cover up their mistakes, particularly with regard to Yugoslavia."

"England's desperate SOS call to the United States is self-explanatory."

Says Hull:

Secretary of State Hull today was regarded as favoring a convoy system for ships carrying aid to England following his assertion that "ways must be found" for American help to reach the embattled nation "in the shortest of time and in maximum quantity."

The secretary's assertion was made in a speech before the American Society of International Law last night in which he said a British victory is "essential" to American security.

Declaring that it will be dangerously shortsighted if this country awaits an attempted invasion, which he predicted would come if the axis powers win the war, Hull continued:

"Events have shown beyond possible question that the safety of this hemisphere and of this country calls for resistance wherever resistance will be most effective."

"In my judgment our safety and security require that aid must be supplied without hesitation to Great Britain and those other countries that are resisting the sweep of the general conflagration."

"As safety for the nations that are offering resistance means security for us, aid to them is an essential part of our own defense."

"This policy means, in practical application, that such aid must reach its destination in the shortest of time and in maximum quantity."

"So—ways must be found to do this."

Lindbergh Answered

In answer to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, the white-haired secretary declared that the axis powers do have designs on the new world, adding that "no nation" has the right to feel immune from attack.

REV. J. E. COMER, FORMER PASTOR IN CITY, IS DEAD

The Rev. Joseph E. Comer, 69, pastor and superintendent of United Brethren Churches for nearly 49 years and pastor of the United Brethren Church in Circleville about 36 years ago, died Thursday at his home in Ashland.

The Rev. Mr. Comer had been in ill health for several years. He retired as superintendent of the eastern Ohio conference last September after serving three years. He came to Circleville from Portsmouth and served here for three years.

Besides Circleville he held pastorates in Ashland, Mansfield, Kenmore, Lorain, Massillon, Barberton and Warren.

Funeral services will be held Saturday.

Says Knox:

In a strong hint that American convoys might be necessary, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox today called on America to "make good our promise to give aid to Britain."

"There is no retracting our steps," Knox, in a speech that bristled with warnings, told the American Newspaper Publishers Association. "We have committed ourselves in this world struggle."

Knox did not use the word "convoy" but flatly stated that if America allows its war supplies for Britain to be sunk en route "we shall be beaten." Declaring that America can not afford to indulge in wishful thinking, he said:

"We must see the job through. All of this is needed for our own safety and our future security. This is our fight. The American people have recognized the catastrophic quality of a totalitarian victory and by overwhelming majority they have endorsed every step along the progress we have made to our present posture."

"We can no longer occupy the immortal and craven position of asking others to make all the sacrifices for us."

MICHIGAN MAN NAMED TO FILL ARANT'S PLACE

WASHINGTON, April 25—President Roosevelt today sent to the senate the nomination of Thomas F. McAllister of Michigan to be judge of the sixth district U. S. court of appeals, succeeding the late Judge Herschel W. Arant of Ohio who died on January 14.

Ohio Democrats waged a disorganized campaign to have the vacancy filled by an appointee from the Buckeye state, but due to the division among them over patronage their efforts were in vain.

Federal judge appointments come under the heading of senatorial patronage, but at present both Ohio senators are Republicans.

MONEY MESSENGER TAKES $8,500, HE CONFESSES

CLEVELAND, April 25—Albert F. Litchner, 42, Buffalo, N. Y. money messenger, gave himself up to police today after squandering $8,500 he admitted taking from his employer two weeks ago.

Married and a father, Litchner said "it was swell while it lasted but it isn't worth it, once you've spent it all."

Litchner told police he was an employee of the Buffalo Armor Co., and that the money was collected from company customers.

DRASTIC STEPS MAY BE TAKEN AS SAFEGUARDS

President Hurls Personal Barb At Lindbergh For His "Appeasement"

NO BOUNDARIES KNOWN

Executive Sees Possibility That Axis May Already Be On Greenland

WASHINGTON, April 25—Taking personal command of the administration's "wake up America" drive, President Roosevelt today denounced defeatists in biting terms, bluntly warned the world that the United States will extend its neutrality patrol to all the seven seas if necessary to protect American interests, and hinted that Greenland may be already partially occupied by the axis powers.

On the heels of bare-fisted speeches last night by two members of his cabinet—Secretary of State Hull and Secretary of Navy Knox—the President, in a distinctly aggressive mood, made these points to his press conference this morning.

1. That anyone who took the position that dictatorship is certain to defeat the democracies and that nothing can be done about it is dumb.

2. That while this nation is not going to convoy, it is prepared to extend its neutrality patrol as far over the seas as may be necessary to protect the Western Hemisphere including such points as Greenland, Canada, Newfoundland, West Indies, Trinidad and Brazil.

No Boundaries, Limits

3. That the neutrality patrol knows no boundaries or limits—that in fact it already is patrolling 1,000 miles out to sea with the eastern shore of Maryland as a starting point.

4. That Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is an appeaser who should be compared to a famous copperhead in the Civil War—Clement L. Vallandigham, described by Mr. Roosevelt as an appeaser of that day and age.

5. That there is a possibility Greenland, the Danish island over which this nation recently established a military protectorate, may already be partially occupied by the axis powers—just how, Mr. Roosevelt said he did not know.

In announcing that the neutrality patrol would be extended as far as necessary, Mr. Roosevelt flatly said there was no idea of convoying ships. He defined convoying and neutrality patrol to draw a sharp distinction.

The duty of the patrol, he said, is a reconnaissance of certain waters to find out if any possibly aggressive ships might be coming into the Western Hemisphere.

A reporter asked what a ship or plane on the American neutrality patrol would do if it spotted an apparently belligerent ship.

"Tell me," said the President, with a grin.

Another reporter inquired whether this patrol would not make waters safe between the United States and Greenland.

He said he hoped it would be safe in the waters to Greenland but he was not at all certain Greenland isn't partially occupied by the axis powers at the present moment.

Conference Surprised

He then said that probably surprised the packed press conference. It did. Questions were immediately pressed as to how and when this occupation had taken place. The President repeatedly answered that he did not know.

In his only personal attack—that on Col. Lindbergh—the President compared the Lone Eagle to Clement L. Vallandigham, whom he described as a revolutionary (Continued on Page Three)

"SAVE BRITAIN" PLAN DRAFTED

Program Is Designed To Assure Flow Of Vital Materials To Isles

By Kingsbury Smith
WASHINGTON, April 25—A "save Great Britain" plan has been drafted by the United States government, it was learned on high authority today.

The plan, formulated by State and Navy Department experts with the collaboration of other branches of the government, is designed to assure the flow of vital war supplies across the Atlantic to the British Isles.

BOYS REACHING 21 TO REGISTER IN MID-SUMMER

July 1 Seen As Likely Date For Next Sign Up For Service In Army

MILLION ARE AVAILABLE

Conscripts May Enroll To Remain For Duration Of Emergency

WASHINGTON, April 25—The second registration day under the National Draft Law for youths who have reached 21 since last October 1 will be held about July 1, it was learned today as a growing belief was expressed in Washington that conscripts now in the Army would serve for the duration of the emergency, instead of one year.

It is expected that approximately 1,000,000 youths will register in July, and high military officials indicated that these new registrants will be called into the service almost immediately.

More than 400,000 of the 16-500,000 men between the ages of 21 and 36 who registered last year already have been inducted into the Army, and a total of 600,000 is expected to be called up by July 1.

After July 1, according to plans of National Draft officials, about 60,000 conscripts will be inducted into the Army a month. The Army plans to draw as many as it can from the 1,000,000 youths registering in July.

These reasons are assigned: (1) younger men are more adaptable to army training; (2) they are healthier; (3) they have fewer dependents; (4) most of them are not engaged in essential National Defense jobs.

Lottery Considered

It was originally planned to hold the second registration day sometime in September. However, plans being made moved the date up to July so that the youths coming of the age of 21 will know by Labor Day whether they could enter college or business. After registration, a lottery will be held to determine in what order they are called up, and this lottery, too, will be before Labor Day.

Meanwhile, there is a growing belief that conscripts being inducted this fiscal year will be kept in the Army for the duration of the emergency. As far as can be (Continued on Page Three)

Besides Circleville he held pastorates in Ashland, Mansfield, Kenmore, Lorain, Massillon, Barberton and Warren.

Says Knox:

In a strong hint that American convoys might be necessary, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox today called on America to "make good our promise to give aid to Britain."

"There is no retracting our steps," Knox, in a speech that bristled with warnings, told the American Newspaper Publishers Association. "We have committed ourselves in this world struggle."

Knox did not use the word "convoy" but flatly stated that if America allows its war supplies for Britain to be sunk en route "we shall be beaten." Declaring that America can not afford to indulge in wishful thinking, he said:

"We must see the job through. All of this is needed for our own safety and our future security. This is our fight. The American people have recognized the catastrophic quality of a totalitarian victory and by overwhelming majority they have endorsed every step along the progress we have made to our present posture."

"We can no longer occupy the immortal and craven position of asking others to make all the sacrifices."

MICHIGAN MAN NAMED TO FILL ARANT'S PLACE

WASHINGTON, April 25—President Roosevelt today sent to the senate the nomination of Thomas F. McAllister of Michigan to be judge of the sixth district U. S. court of appeals, succeeding the late Judge Herschel W. Arant of Ohio who died on January 14.

Ohio Democrats waged a disorganized campaign to have the vacancy filled by an appointee from the Buckeye state, but due to the division among them over patronage their efforts were in vain.

Federal judge appointments come under the heading of senatorial patronage, but at present both Ohio senators are Republicans.

Conference Surprised

He then said that probably surprised the packed press conference. It did. Questions were immediately pressed as to how and when this occupation had taken place. The President repeatedly answered that he did not know.

NO BOUNDARIES KNOWN

Executive Sees Possibility That Axis May Already Be On Greenland

WASHINGTON, April 25—Taking personal command of the administration's "wake up America" drive, President Roosevelt today denounced defeatists in biting terms, bluntly warned the world that the United States will extend its neutrality patrol to all the seven seas if necessary to protect American interests, and hinted that Greenland may be already partially occupied by the axis powers.

On the heels of bare-fisted speeches last night by two members of his cabinet—Secretary of State Hull and Secretary of Navy Knox—the President, in a distinctly aggressive mood, made these points in his press conference this morning.

1. That anyone who took the position that dictatorship is certain to defeat the democracies and that nothing can be done about it is dumb.

2. That while this nation is not going to convoy, it is prepared to extend its neutrality patrol as far over the seas as may be necessary to protect the Western Hemisphere including such points as Greenland, Canada, Newfoundland, West Indies, Trinidad and Brazil.

No Boundaries, Limits

3. That the neutrality patrol knows no boundaries or limits—that in fact it already is patrolling 1,000 miles out to sea with the eastern shore of Maryland as a starting point.

4. That Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is an appeaser who should be compared to a famous copperhead in the Civil War—Clement L. Vallandigham, described by Mr. Roosevelt as an appeaser of that day and age.

5. That there is a possibility Greenland, the Danish island over which this nation recently established a military protectorate, may already be partially occupied by the axis powers—just how, Mr. Roosevelt said he did not know.

In announcing that the neutrality patrol would be extended as far as necessary, Mr. Roosevelt flatly said there was no idea of convoying ships. He defined convoying and neutrality patrol to draw a sharp distinction.

The duty of the patrol, he said, is a reconnaissance of certain waters to find out if any possibly aggressive ships might be coming into the Western Hemisphere.

A reporter asked what a ship or plane on the American neutrality patrol would do if it spotted an apparently belligerent ship.

"Tell me," said the President, with a grin.

Another reporter inquired whether this patrol would not make waters safe between the United States and Greenland.

He said he hoped it would be safe in the waters to Greenland but he was not at all certain Greenland isn't partially occupied by the axis powers at the present moment.

CONFERENCE SURPRISED

He then said that probably surprised the packed press conference. It did. Questions were immediately pressed as to how and when this occupation had taken place. The President repeatedly answered that he did not know.

NATIONAL AAA TO DECIDE PLEA FOR FARM CASH

Pickaway Countians Stand To Benefit If Request Is Carried Out

MACHINERY COST VITAL

Suggestion Made That Price Be Stabilized To Aid Man Of Soil

Higher parity payments for Pickaway County farmers may follow action of the delegation of farmer and AAA representatives meeting in Columbus this week. The recommendation for higher payments will be carried to Washington by state delegates and presented to the national AAA conference in July.

Wilbur Brinker, Walnut Township, Pickaway County representative at the convention in Columbus, said Friday that the purpose of higher parity payments was to bridge the expected gap between prices of agricultural products raised by the farmers and prices of manufactured goods the farmer must buy.

"Recommendations call for a rise in parity payments to the point where the purchasing power of the farmer's dollar is as near 100 cents as possible," Mr. Brinker said.

At the same time, the state AAA congress is asking that the price of farm machinery not be raised as a further means of protecting the farmer. Although state recommendations call for parity payment increases on all parity crops including corn, wheat, rice, cotton and tobacco, Pickaway County farmers are effected primarily by increases made on corn and wheat parities.

$147,000 Paid In 1940

During 1940, farmers in the county received over $147,000 in parity payments on corn and wheat. If the recommendation of the state is carried out at the national AAA convention, the figure for this year should be even greater, local AAA men maintain.

To date, wheat allotments in the county number 1,308, with approximately a third of those who have made application yet to come in. Sixty-seven percent of all farms in the county now are signed for AAA wheat participation next year. By the deadline next Thursday, the figure will be at least seventy percent, officials predict.

Delegates at the state convention Friday generally expressed a desire for a program "that will protect farmers from an adverse post-war economy that inevitably will come if farmers are not united."

Many Store Corn

One of the major recommendations adopted asked that government-owned corn from other states be stored in deficient corn counties in Ohio where it would be readily accessible to farmers who do not grow sufficient corn for feed. The recommendation applies directly to Pickaway County, where no government corn ever has been stored and where last year a shortage of grain caused local farmers and elevators to import hundreds

Organization Of Home Guard In City Likely

Passage of the Home Guard bill by the state legislature may mean the establishment of a Home Guard unit in Circleville, local officials believed Friday.

Since the law provides that a home guard unit be established in all towns and cities where armories are located, Circleville will probably be placed on the list of Ohio cities to form such a unit.

The bill provides for the appointment of from 1,000 to 4,800 officers and enlisted men in the Guard between the ages of 18 and 64. The guard, to be appointed by the governor, would be vested with virtually the same power and authority as that given to the National Guard, and it is generally expected that units will serve only during that period in which the National Guard is in active service in the National Defense program.

J. K. Graham, Lancaster Route 4, charged with driving when under the influence of alcohol, was fined $100 and costs and committed to County Jail Thursday by Mayor William B. Cady.

Ray C. Anderson, Lancaster Route 3, who was riding with Graham when the two were arrested Wednesday night in an alley beside the Eagles' Lodge, was fined $50 and costs for resisting arrest. Anderson also was committed. Patrolman Elmer Merriman and Turney Ross made the arrests.

The officers testified that Anderson had fought with them and called them names when they stopped Graham's car after it had collided with the automobile of George Fitzpatrick.

KENTUCKIAN CITED FOR MONEY THEFT YEAR AGO

Everett Hall, Kentucky, was bound to the grand jury under $600 bond Friday by Mayor William B. Cady on charges of "stealing money by violence," more than a year after he took the pocketbook of Charles Ramsey, Circleville. He was committed to County Jail in default of bond payment.

Ramsey, who filed the charges, said he and Hall were walking down the street a year ago when Hall snatched his pocketbook from his hip-pocket. Hall went to Kentucky a short time later, and did not return until recently.

of carloads of corn to supply the local demand.

Other recommendations approved included one providing for a 51 percent majority vote rather than a two-thirds majority of votes necessary to approve marketing quotas.

Farmers advocated that crop insurance be extended to cover corn, but rejected a plan whereby all AAA cooperators would automatically have wheat crop insurance with the cost deducted from future AAA payments.

CORPS OF BIG ARMY VEHICLES TRAVELS WEST

A convoy of 20 six-ton army trucks passed west through Circleville on Main Street Thursday at 3:30 p. m.

City police, who cleared Main Street to allow through passage of the convoy, were not informed from where it had come or where it was going. The trucks were expected to spend Thursday night in Wilmington.

A police radio dispatch shortly before 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon notified local officers that the convoy was headed for Circleville on Route 22. Traffic Officer Miller Fissell met the convoy at the edge of the city and escorted it through. The trucks also were led by a state highway patrol cruiser. They were traveling about 20 miles an hour.

FAIRFIELD JURORS COULD HAVE SAVED CARL HOOVER

If the Fairfield County grand jury had seen fit to indict Wayne Thompson of Columbus on a charge of cutting with intent to wound, Carl Hoover, Columbus grocer, related in Circleville, would have been living today instead of being a victim of the quick-trigger revolver of the youth.

Hoover was shot to death this week when Thompson tried to holdup his grocery store.

Thompson, who told Columbus police he was born in Circleville, was arrested in Lancaster for slaying William Ervin, Jr., Lancaster, across the nose with a knife and left Ervin, said to be his cousin, lying on the sidewalk. Thompson, who used aliases of Davis, Hampton and Scar, was arrested August 1 and charged with the cutting, but the grand jury refused to indict. Thompson went free after the jury's refusal to return a true bill against him.

The Navy Department announced award of a $20,067 contract to Grimes Manufacturing Company of Urbana, O., for signal lights.

Bill To Solve Medical Problem Nears Passage

COLUMBUS, April 25—An attempt to solve the doctor bill problem of Ohio's low income families had been made today by the 94th General Assembly with the passage of the Mahoney bill, providing for a voluntary low-cost medical care plan.

It is an insurance plan, designed to give full medical and surgical services in homes, doctor's offices and hospitals to members of families with incomes of not more than $2,400 a year, and to single persons, without dependents, who earn $1,800 or less.

While operating details remain to be worked out by the Ohio State Medical Association at its annual meeting in Cleveland June 2, experience in other states which have similar plans, indicates that the cost to subscribers will average about $2 a month for single persons, $3.50 a month for man and wife, and $4.50 a month for a family including any number of dependents under 19.

These monthly premiums will assure full payment of all physicians' and surgeons' fees, covering all medical and surgical needs except actual hospital expenses. The state already has authorized hospitalization insurance plans and upward of 1,000,000 Ohioans now are protected in this respect.

Set Up Corporations
The Mahoney bill provides for the creation of a non-profit corporation in each community, to be licensed by the state. Subscribers would contract for the services of physicians and surgeons and would be free to designate the doctor of their choice for the list of those participating.

Before the state would issue a license to any corporation in a given community, 51 percent or more of the professional medical men practicing there would have to agree to participate. To assure adequate service, not more than 500 subscribers would be accepted for each doctor enrolled.

It has long been recognized that while high income families have no financial worries with respect to medical care, and indigent families are provided with free care through the relief agencies, the great "middle class" of low income families find doctor bills burdensome and often put off needed medical attention because they feel they cannot afford it.

It is these families that the plan is intended to benefit, and the bill's sponsors claim it will prove equally advantageous to physicians and surgeons by guaranteeing payment for services that might otherwise go unpaid.

four may have perished in the snows.

Both men seized in Medicine Hat were said to be sergeants of the Nazi flying corps. Although dressed as hoboes, both wore prison underwear. They were quoted as saying they had made their way 1,000 miles across Canada from Ontario by riding freight trains.

CONTRACT ENDS, BUT NO LABOR RIFT EXPECTED

COLUMBUS, April 25—No strike of bus, trolley coach and street car operators employed by the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Company, planning in the immediate future despite the fact that a union contract expires at midnight tonight, Orville Daily, head of the operators union group, asserted today.

The operators voted for further negotiations with the utility on four major demands, including wage increases, Daily said.

"However, if the company refused to negotiate," he added, "it will be entirely up to the membership what steps shall be taken then."

Besides the salary boost, union operators are asking for longer vacations, a reclassification of motor buses and an improvement in working conditions, Daily said.

The government has given no indication of how long that will be.

No information on the qualifications of those who wish to make application for Home Guard service has been received by Circleville officials. Since the bill provides that men between the ages of 18 and 64, it is expected to include many men already registered under the Selective Service Act. Selective Service officials have received no information on the matter, although they said that registered men probably could make application for Home Guard service, although such application would not affect their classification under the Draft Law nor provide them with deferment.

Howard Hall Post, American Legion, although it favors passage of the bill, and has voted its approval, is not expected to form the Home Guard movement as an organization.

Organization of a local unit will probably be under the supervision of an appointee of the governor, Commander Shea said.

GERMANS CLAIM THERMOPYLAE'S CAPTURE VITAL

Bitter Rear Guard Action
Carried On By British
Reported Smashed

capable of protecting the B.E.F. retreat until embarkation of the British force was completed.
Stuka dive-bombers, tank and heavy artillery prepared the war for German shock troops and Alpine units which were said to have "virtually annihilated" the defending forces on Wednesday.
German quarters in Berlin declared that the Greek resistance was now in its "hour of death."
Simultaneously, the German air force announced a final "blitz" assault on Greek airbases in which 31 planes were destroyed—37 on the ground at the Argis airport, six at the Megala airport and eight in air combats.
German aerial bombs, it was stated, sank 20,000 tons of enemy shipping and damaged another 15,000 tons, mostly in Greek waters.
These shipping losses were said to have included a 6,000-ton ship off Thermys, a 4,000-ton vessel off Eleusis, a 5,000-ton ship off Corinth and two 3,000-ton ships off Spetal, all of which were said to have been engaged in evacuation of British Expeditionary Force troops from Greece.

Crete Stand Final
Meanwhile, German authorities predicted the final Greek stand against Germany will be made on the island of Crete.
Latest military reports from the battle zone said the German army was approaching Athens through extremely difficult country.
Observations made by German airmen, these reports said, seemed to indicate that the last Anglo-Greek resistance will be centered at Crete, with the Peloponnese abandoned.
German quarters said they expected the Greeks to adopt these tactics because of the lack of suitable embarkation harbors on the Peloponnese, which would "make escape almost impossible."

In addition, these same Berlin sources said, German observers "established" that by yesterday the main force of the British Expeditionary Force had embarked from the Greek mainland, and declared that most of these troops probably had been transported to Crete.
After establishing itself in historic Thermopylae Pass, it was stated, the main German military force was flinging spearheads south as far as the suburbs of Athens.

German Stuka dive-bombers were said to be continuing their drive to inflict a disaster "worse than Dunkirk" on the British and were said to have crippled a destroyer and set fire to a flying boat in the harbor of Salamis.
Many Tanks Seized
On land, it was claimed, German panzer columns seized "hundreds" of British tanks and supply-laden trucks, ammunition lorries and numbers of four-inch field guns together with an entire railroad train packed with food.

DRASTIC STEPS MAY BE TAKEN AS SAFEGUARDS

President Hurls Personal
Barb At Lindbergh For
His "Appeasement"

appeaser, a man who wanted to make peace and who pleaded with George Washington to lay down his arms just because it wasn't in the cards for him to win.

Lindbergh's name was raised, when a reporter asked why the Colonel had not been recalled to active duty.

Mr. Roosevelt said he would have to go back to the Civil War to answer that one. He did not elaborate.
In differentiating between convoy and neutrality patrol, the President defined a convoy as the escorting of merchant ships in a group to prevent acts of aggression.

It was at this point he said the United States had no idea of conveying—even though it might surprise many in the room and make them look foolish.

The neutrality patrol, which has been in effect for a year and a half, is not a convoy. The President said he thought some of those present knew what a horse looked like and what a cow looked like. To call a cow a horse for a year and a half does not make it a horse.

The patrol has been extended, is being extended and will be extended, however, Mr. Roosevelt continued.

He explained that back in 1939 when the patrol was first established the area of patrol in the Atlantic was nearer to the shore because there did not seem to be any danger of attack on places like Bermuda, Newfoundland, Greenland, Trinidad or Brazil.

Attack Possible
Evidence during the later period of the war, however, showed attack was possible in those places. The President pointed out we have some rather valuable American lives and property to protect now, in Greenland, for instance, Newfoundland, Bermuda and especially between Newfoundland and Bermuda where we have an obligation under the Monroe Doctrine to protect Canada.

60 UNIONS VOTE STRIKE CALL ON GENERAL MOTORS

DETROIT, April 25—UAW-CIO headquarters announced today that 60 General Motors' locals have voted to authorize a strike against the General Motors Corporation.

The union spokesman said that but one local remained to be heard from in connection with the strike vote. Although General Motors has more than 80 plants throughout the country, the union has stated that in the event of a strike only 61 plants would be affected as the UAW-CIO concedes that the remainder are engaged in work on $755,000,000 in defense contracts.

FAYETTE DRIVER UNHURT AS CAR GOES IN DITCH

Frank Loring Hutson, 224 North Main Street, Washington C. H., escaped injury Thursday night when his automobile left Route 56 three miles east of Circleville and crashed into the ditch on the right side of the road. Deputy Sheriff Robert Armstrong said Hutson went to sleep when driving.
His car, a 1937 Plymouth, damaged considerably, was towed into Circleville for repairs.

SEN. BYRD CALLS FOR RESIGNATION OF LABOR CHIEF

WASHINGTON, April 25—Sen. Byrd (D) Va., today called for the resignation of Secretary of Labor Perkins as he charged in the senate that the only woman cabinet member has failed to settle defense industry strikes, and has become a "bottleneck" in the defense program.

In a bitter attack on Miss Perkins' administration of her office, Byrd told the senate that it has been rumored that Miss Perkins has handed in her resignation to President Roosevelt, and he said that Mr. Roosevelt should accept it immediately.

"SAVE BRITAIN" PLAN DRAFTED

put into full effect if American public opinion reacts favorably to the intensive drive which has been launched by the administration to whip up sentiment for more drastic action to save Great Britain from collapse.

One official informed this writer that the plan is ready to be put into operation whenever the President deems it advisable.

As presently drafted, the plan does not call for actually conveying as known in the last war. Instead of escorting supply ships across the Atlantic, the American warships will engage in extended patrol duty along the shipping routes. Some of them already are doing so.

If they are attacked, or threatened with attack, they will resist "in their own self defense." They will not initiate hostilities, informed quarters said. What action they will take if a nearby convoy is about to be attacked is something officials consider in the category of a "defense secret." However, it was emphasized that the plan calls for getting the supplies to Britain.

Meanwhile, neutral foreign diplomats in Washington privately believed the sensational statements of Secretary of State Hull and Secretary of the Navy Knox last night indicated the American government is on the road to war.

Nation Committed
Knox's speech before the Newspaper Publishers' Convention in New York was regarded as virtually committing the American government to outright participation in the war if it becomes evident that Britain will be unable to hold out alone.
The diplomats felt that the reaction of the American public to the two speeches will determine whether or not President Roosevelt carries out the policies enunciated by Knox and Hull.

MEDIATION BOARD CALLS COAL, UNION TO CONFAB

WASHINGTON, April 25—A special, three-man panel of the national mediation board today took up the 25-day-old soft coal stoppage. While there was increasing evidence in Washington that the government would demand reopening of the nation's mines Monday in order to assure adequate coal supplies for the defense program.

With only two weeks supply of coal above the ground the White House and Army fearing a disruption of defense production, the panel called members of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers and the northern and southern coal operators into a conference. The panel, composed of William H. Davis, Walter Teagle and Clinton Golden, was prepared to keep the arbitration meetings going into the nights and Sunday, if necessary.

learned, no legislation is needed. It is pointed out that conscripts, after their first year, will become reserves eligible for service at any time during the next 10 years. President Roosevelt, by executive order, could keep them in service because of the national emergency for as long as 10 years if it was needed.

May Retain Guard
Mr. Roosevelt already has said that he will ask for legislation to keep the National Guard into service for more than the one year originally planned.

Military sources refuse to discuss the possibility that conscripts would be kept in the Army more than a year. However, they are unanimous in declaring that they do not see how the conscripts can be released after a year without disrupting the entire Army training program. Many of the conscripts have been merged into regular Army divisions.

NINE BUILDING BRICK PLANTS ARE CLOSED

DOVER, O., April 25—More than 500 AFL workers in nine building brick plants were on strike today, demanding a 10 percent wage increase.

The walk-out was called after the collapse of negotiations for a new contract to replace one that expired January 1. The men seek a basic wage increase of from 50 to 65 cents an hour.

Other brick plants in the area, while not affected by the strike, expected to be shut down after next week unless dwindling piles of coal can be replenished.

Plants affected by the walk-out are the Evans plant, Midvale; Belden plants, Port Washington and Roanoke; Goshen plants, Newcomerstown and Baltic, and the Stone Creek Brick Co. All but the Stone Creek plant were closed and picket lines were set up.

Stone Creek employees said they had a separate contract with their management, and would not strike, but other union workers stopped coal trucks en route to the plant which threatened its continued operation.

Says Knox:

rice for this victory which we recognize as so essential to us. Our manhood and our self-respect demand that we shall assume our part of the burden."

Attack Possible
Although he did not specify what America's role should be, the navy secretary pictured a bloc of aggressor nations that might eventually cooperate in an attack on the United States and, he warned, aid to Britain now might forestall such an attack later.

He continued:
"What we all see is an America which is gradually becoming encircled by military powers whose ideals, institutions and methods are all of them irreconcilably antagonistic to our ideals, institutions and methods."

"These same powers have also openly and repeatedly proclaimed themselves our enemies and these openly avowed enemies have joined themselves together in a pact which they do not hesitate to say is aimed at us, and at us alone."

"The only reason this hostile pact, admittedly aimed at us, has not resulted in open warfare on us has been because it does not suit the present purpose of these powers to engage in war with us."

"Whenever, in the judgment of the axis powers, it better suits their purpose to begin hostilities, hostilities will begin and nothing that we can do save prostrating ourselves in abject surrender, will change this."

Can't Break Down
Secretary Knox warned that "if we should attempt to back down now, England would go down to catastrophic defeat and we would face a world-wide victorious Germany and her Allies whom we should have to fight alone."

'WITNESSES' WIN
COLUMBUS, April 25—Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood today granted a permanent injunction to Jehovah's Witnesses, a religious organization, restraining London, O., local officials from interfering with the sect's distribution of literature by prosecuting members under a "Green River" ordinance.

Says Hull:

it shows that no nation anywhere has the slightest reason to feel that it will be exempted from attack by the invader, any more than, in a town overrun by bandits, the wealthiest citizens might expect to be free from attack," Hull said.

The Secretary declared that it is "perfectly plain that one group of powers actually does have designs both on the new world and on the principles, the possessions, and the way of life that are ours."

"All the military movements and official acts and utterances of these powers have confirmed the knowledge that we too are included in their plans for world domination."

Hull cited the story of Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Albania, Luxembourg, France, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia where "homes are plundered, families are separated, churches are closed; food is denied; semi-slavery is introduced.

"The conclusion is plain," he said, "now, after some 15 nations have lost everything that makes life worth living, it is high time that the remaining free countries should arm to the fullest extent and in the briefest time humanly possible and act for their self-preservation."

GERMANS CLAIM THERMOPYLAE'S CAPTURE VITAL

capable of protecting the B.E.F. retreat until embarkation of the British force was completed. Stuka dive-bombers, tanks and heavy artillery prepared the war for German shock troops and Alpine units which were said to have "virtually annihilated" the defending forces on Wednesday.

German quarters in Berlin declared that the Greek resistance was now in its "hour of death." Simultaneously, the German air force announced a final "blitz" assault on Greek airports in which 51 planes were destroyed—37 on the ground at the Argis airport, six at the Megalla airport and eight in air combats.

German aerial bombs, it was stated, sank 20,000 tons of enemy shipping and damaged another 15,000 tons, mostly in Greek waters.

These shipping losses were said to have included a 6,000-ton ship off Thermopylae, a 4,000-ton vessel off Eleusis, a 5,000-ton ship off Corinth and two 3,000-ton ships off Spetia, all of which were said to have been engaged in evacuation of British Expeditionary Force troops from Greece.

Crete Stand Final
Meanwhile, German authorities predicted the final Greek stand against Germany will be made on the island of Crete.

Latest military reports from the battle zone said the German army was approaching Athens through extremely difficult country.

Observations made by German airmen, these reports said, seemed to indicate that the last Anglo-Greek resistance will be centered at Crete, with the Peloponnese abandoned.

German quarters said they expected the Greeks to adopt these tactics because of the lack of suitable embarkation harbors on the Peloponnese, which would "make escape almost impossible."

In addition, these same Berlin sources said, German observers "established" that by yesterday the main force of the British Expeditionary Force had embarked from the Greek mainland, and declared that most of these troops probably had been transported to Crete.

German claims of victory in the Hellenic campaign were bolstered by announcements that a great part of the British army's equipment had been seized and that 15 additional British transports had been crippled, including five sunk. After establishing itself in the historic Thermopylae Pass, it was stated, the main German military force was flinging spearheads south as far as the suburbs of Athens.

German Stuka dive-bombers were said to be continuing their drive to inflict a disaster "worse than Dunkirk" on the British and were said to have crippled a destroyer and set fire to a flying boat in the harbor of Salamis.

Many Tanks Seized
On land, it was claimed, German panzer columns seized "hundreds" of British tanks and supply-laden trucks, ammunition lorries and numbers of four-inch field guns together with an entire railroad train packed with food.

The train, it was said, had just arrived in an important town in Thessaly which was captured by the Germans.

President Hurls Personal
Barb At Lindbergh For

appeaser, a man who wanted to make peace and who pleaded with George Washington to lay down his arms just because it wasn't in the cards for him to win.

Lindbergh's name was raised, when a reporter asked why the Colonel had not been recalled to active duty.

Mr. Roosevelt said he would have to go back to the Civil War to answer that one. He did not elaborate.

In differentiating between convoy and neutrality patrol, the President defined a convoy as the escorting of merchant ships in a group to prevent acts of aggression.

It was at this point he said the United States had no idea of conveying—even though it might surprise many in the room and make them look foolish.

The neutrality patrol, which has been in effect for a year and a half, is not a convoy. The President said he thought some of those present knew what a horse looked like and what a cow looked like. To call a cow a horse for a year and a half does not make it a horse.

The patrol has been extended, is being extended and will be extended, however, Mr. Roosevelt continued.

He explained that back in 1939 when the patrol was first established the area of patrol in the Atlantic was nearer to the shore because there did not seem to be any danger of attack on places like Bermuda, Newfoundland, Greenland, Trinidad or Brazil.

Attack Possible
Evidence during the later period of the war, however, showed attack was possible in those places. The President pointed out we have some rather valuable American lives and property to protect now, in Greenland, for instance, Newfoundland, Bermuda and especially between Newfoundland and Bermuda where we have an obligation under the Monroe Doctrine to protect Canada.

60 UNIONS VOTE

STRIKE CALL ON

GENERAL MOTORS

DETROIT, April 25—UAW-CIO headquarters announced today that 60 General Motors' locals have voted to authorize a strike against the General Motors Corporation.

The union spokesmen said that but one local remained to be heard from in connection with the strike vote. Although General Motors has more than 80 plants throughout the country, the union has stated that in the event of a strike only 61 plants would be affected as the UAW-CIO concedes that the remainder are engaged in work on $75,000,000 in defense contracts.

FAYETTE DRIVER UNHURT

AS CAR GOES IN DITCH

Frank Loring Hutson, 224 North Main Street, Washington C. H., escaped injury Thursday night when his automobile left Route 56 three miles east of Circleville and crashed into the ditch on the right side of the road. Deputy Sheriff Robert Armstrong said Hutson went to sleep when driving.

His car, a 1937 Plymouth, damaged considerably, was towed into Circleville for repairs.

SEN. BYRD CALLS FOR RESIGNATION OF LABOR CHIEF

WASHINGTON, April 25—Sen. Byrd (D) Va., today called for the resignation of Secretary of Labor Perkins as he charged in the senate that the only woman cabinet member has failed to settle defense industry strikes, and has become a "bottleneck" in the defense program.

In a bitter attack on Miss Perkins' administration of her office, Byrd told the senate that it has been rumored that Miss Perkins has handed in her resignation to President Roosevelt, and he said that Mr. Roosevelt should accept it immediately.

"SAVE BRITAIN" PLAN DRAFTED

put into full effect if American public opinion reacts favorably to the intensive drive which has been launched by the administration to whip up sentiment for more drastic action to save Great Britain from collapse.

One official informed this writer that the plan is ready to be put into operation whenever the President deems it advisable.

As presently drafted, the plan does not call for actually conveying as known in the last war. Instead of escorting supply ships across the Atlantic, the American warships will engage in extended patrol duty along the shipping routes. Some of them already are doing so.

If they are attacked, or threatened with attack, they will resist "in their own self defense." They will not initiate hostilities, informed quarters said. What action they will take if a nearby convoy is about to be attacked is something officials consider in the category of a "defense secret." However, it was emphasized that the plan calls for getting the supplies to Britain.

Meanwhile, neutral foreign diplomats in Washington privately believed the sensational statements of Secretary of State Hull and Secretary of the Navy Knox last night indicated the American government is on the road to war.

Nation Committed

Knox's speech before the Newspaper Publishers' Convention in New York was regarded as virtually committing the American government to outright participation in the war if it becomes evident that Britain will be unable to hold out alone.

The diplomats felt that the reaction of the American public to the two speeches will determine whether or not President Roosevelt carries out the policies enunciated by Knox and Hull.

MEDIATION BOARD CALLS

COAL, UNION TO CONFAB

WASHINGTON, April 25—A special, three-man panel of the national mediation board today took up the 25-day-old soft coal stoppage. While there was increasing evidence in Washington that the government would demand reopening of the nation's mines Monday in order to assure adequate coal supplies for the defense program.

With only two weeks supply of coal above the ground the White House and Army fearing a disruption of defense production, the panel called members of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers and the northern and southern coal operators into a conference. The panel, composed of William H. Davis, Walter Teagle and Clinton Golden, was prepared to keep the arbitration meetings going into the nights and Sunday, if necessary.

learned, no legislation is needed. It is pointed out that conscripts, after their first year, will become reserves eligible for service at any time during the next 10 years. President Roosevelt, by executive order, could keep them in service because of the national emergency for as long as 10 years if it was needed.

May Retain Guard

Mr. Roosevelt already has said that he will ask for legislation to keep the National Guard into service for more than the one year originally planned.

Military sources refuse to discuss the possibility that conscripts would be kept in the Army more than a year. However, they are unanimous in declaring that they do not see how the conscripts can be released after a year without disrupting the entire Army training program. Many of the conscripts have been merged into regular Army divisions.

NINE BUILDING BRICK

PLANTS ARE CLOSED

DOVER, O., April 25—More than 500 AFL workers in nine building brick plants were on strike today, demanding a 10 percent wage increase.

The walk-out was called after the collapse of negotiations for a new contract to replace one that expired January 1. The men seek a basic wage increase of from 50 to 65 cents an hour.

Other brick plants in the area, while not affected by the strike, expected to be shut down after next week unless dwindling piles of coal can be replenished.

Plants affected by the walk-out are the Evans plant, Midvale; Belden plants, Port Washington and Roanoke; Goshen plants, Newcomerstown and Baltic, and the Stone Creek Brick Co. All but the Stone Creek plant were closed and picket lines were set up.

Stone Creek employees said they had a separate contract with their management, and would not strike, but other union workers stopped coal trucks en route to the plant which threatened its continued operation.

TO CITIZENS

FRIENDS: An official from All-American Aviation, Inc., came to Circleville the other day to investigate the possibility of installing mail pick-up equipment here. He called on a number of persons for information concerning the need for additional mail service and was given details on the city's population, business and industry. As a representative of his company, he assured city officials that All-American Aviation would like to have Circleville on its pick-up route, but he added "the city must show that it is interested in having the service." Heads of all Circleville firms believe that such a service is needed. It would mean faster airmail deliveries, more efficient service and better business. Certainly there are locations around Circleville where the equipment might be installed. Backing by social clubs and organizations, including the Chamber of Commerce, would help materially to convince the aviation company that Circleville is "interested" in getting the service.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles F. Stewart

NELSON ROCKEFELLER. United States co-ordinator of relations between the American republics, doesn't object to priorities, but he does want our New World Latin neighbors to get their fair share of 'em.

Priorities? They've been talked about so much lately that I suppose most of us know what they are. However, maybe a few words of definition are desirable for the benefit of the few who, possibly, have neglected to analyze 'em. Well, current emergency demands on our industries' productive capacities and our transportation facilities are so enormous that they're behindhand on orders for goods and deliveries. So, when Uncle Sam feels that a would-be customer's requirements are especially urgent, the government grants him a priority and he gets his stuff in a hurry. Some other customer, whose need isn't considered so pressing and who, consequently, hasn't got a priority mandate, has to wait awhile—perhaps indefinitely.

Co-ordinator Rockefeller inclines to think that we're liable to overdo priorities in the interest of Europe, African and Asiatic democratic belligerent countries, to the prejudice of our non-belligerent New World neighbors. Now, if those southern republics don't get their essential processed supplies, says the co-ordinator, their internal economies will be knocked skyhigh. They have enough of their own raw materials, but they're not manufacturers. For example, their agriculture will be shot full of holes if they can't get farm machinery — and, with Europe at war, here's the only source of supply for 'em.

RISE FOR NAZIS

The result will be, points out Nelson Rockefeller, that they'll be distressed frightfully. It will be a situation calculated to precipitate revolutions among 'em. And Nazis and Fascists will be alert to take advantage of such revolutions. It'll be an ideal state of affairs for Herr Hitler.

Not only do the Latin-Americans imperatively need manufactured stuff, the co-ordinator reminds us; our ships have got to carry it to 'em. They haven't any merchant fleets of their own. He warns us against diverting too many of our cargo craft from their trade, in our enthusiasm for turning over bottoms to Britain and Britishly-associated democracies.

Having been a South American resident (in Argentina) during most of the last World War, I have an inkling of the situation Co-ordinator Rockefeller discusses. Those republics are raw materially, but they're not processors. Prior to that war they'd been mainly dependent on Europe for their finished products. Our International Harvester company, our Singer Sewing Machine company, our Ford Motor company and our Remington Typewriter company had found 'em a good market, but generally speaking, we hadn't discovered the southern continent. World War No. 1, by shutting off their European source of supplies, forcibly turned the Latin-Americans' attention in our direction. They simply forced us to sell our stuff to 'em.

Then we also got into the world rumpus and they couldn't get much from us, either, on account of what, in that day, amounted to our present system of priorities. It got so you couldn't buy the most ridiculously ordinary things, like twine and pins and nails and wire.

UNCLE SAM MUFFS

In due course the war ended. Then was our chance to horn in for keeps, and grab that market. But we muffed our opportunity. It was purely because we weren't, in any true sense, aware that there was any such place as Latin America. Our fatheadedness was fairly unbelievable. Illustratively, we couldn't get it through our nuts that our winter is summer south of the Equator. So our exporters would try to load up the Argentine and Uruguay and Chile with Palm Beach suits at winter's beginning and with furs at the beginning of summer.

And such other stunts. It followed, of course, that our business there went floozy.

Now we're offered another crack at it.

Moreover, it isn't solely commercial; it's aimed at hemispherical solidarity—and at the much-talked-about world-wide "new order."

Co-ordinator Rockefeller is boosting for it.

studies and have taken your school work seriously. Smart? Of course you are, or you would not have received the honor, but not necessarily the smartest. The world has too many "smart" people, who, because they have not taken advantage of that gift, have fallen into the realm of mediocrity. Those who rise above it are those who, like yourselves, have combined intellect with hard work. It is a good habit, and your grades indicate you have developed it. Such a practice will bring you success in the future.

CIRCUITEER.

TO EVERYONE

FOLK: Ohio is in the middle of the "burning off" season and many thousands of acres of field and woodland will be burned off by persons who fail to recognize the damage not only to the land itself but to every form of wildlife. For generations this has been a customary practice in many sections of the state. Many reasons are advanced for the custom, some of the more common being: To obtain more and better pasture by removing leaves and underbrush; to kill insects injurious to livestock; to kill snakes and other "varmints"; to do it because Dad and Granddad did it and thought it was the best thing to do. The practice not only fails to achieve any of these benefits, but each successive fire adds to the accumulative damage. Young seedling trees are killed by each fire. The soil and the forest floor is robbed of its moisture holding capacity and its fertility. The land is made susceptible to erosion. Every form of wildlife, even game fish, suffer as a result of this burning off practice. Countless baby rabbits are killed by these fires. Cover, which is essential to all wildlife, is destroyed. The soil, rendered unable to hold water, rushes down the hillside with the rain, carrying silt and gravel, which fills the streams and makes them unsuitable for fish life.

CIRCUITEER.

TO BOARD OF EDUCATION

OFFICIALS: Your organization made two excellent moves this week, one being the stamp of approval you placed on the present teaching staff, and the other sanction for three new National Defense projects to be conducted in the school. You showed your confidence in the school system by reemploying all members of the present staff. The two National Defense projects which are ended this week have been outstanding successes, and the part played by the board of education in sponsoring the projects had much to do with the interest shown in the drafting and welding work.

CIRCUITEER.

TO POLICE, FIREMEN, KIWANIS

MEN: Congratulations go to all of you for putting on a splendid annual Ball, one which I feel certain will provide money enough to help pay a large share on a resuscitator, a lifesaving device badly needed in Circleville. For the third straight year your dance has packed Memorial Hall, and it is through the cooperation of your three groups that the event is so successful. Also for the third straight year, your dance was conducted without a disorder of any kind.

can't pass and see what somebody else wants to do, especially his own partner. If he had listened to the bidding, he would have heard South deny a good heart fit with his first diamond bid, and his second bid of diamonds, after North's second heart call, showed that he didn't have even enough of them to support a rebid major. Hence he couldn't possibly have more than two, and West therefore must have had at least four or five.

If East had reasoned thus, he would have passed North's 3-Hearts, and West would have doubled it. Perfect defense would have enabled East and West then to score 800 points for a three-trick set, instead of being beaten at their own contract.

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

THERE WAS something vaguely sinister in the stranger's utter immobility; in his intent regard that was fixed upon the people in that lighted room, among them Donald's wife. Suddenly an almost unreasoning anger burned deep in Donald as he took a step forward, calling sharply, "Hey, you—what are you doing here?"

Instantly the man straightened, whirled, saw him, and plunged into the jungle. It was pitch dark there and Donald was unarmed. So he made no effort to follow. Instead, he went on into the house, carrying the violin case. Inside the living room door, he checked swiftly, saw that there were five men there, just as he had somehow known there would be.

"Did either of you step outside the window there just now?" he demanded.

They looked up, startled, and a chorus of negatives answered him. "What's up, old man?" demanded Tom, coming swiftly toward him.

"It's probably nothing at all—some prowler," said Donald, and explained what he had seen. "Probably the boatman hanging around—" he added hurriedly, noting the white, frightened faces of the women.

"Yes, of course," Tom said with the same false heartiness. "There's nothing to be afraid of, people. And now, Mrs. Heath, we are all anticipating a treat."

June took her violin from its case, but her eyes met his, questioning, worried. Donald smiled at her and said frankly, "Chances are I was mistaken. I probably didn't see anything at all. It could be that my eyes tricked me. That mango tree out there could look like an army with banners, if you wanted to look at it a certain way."

"Of course," said June, taking the violin from its case, cradling it beneath her chin, and drawing the bow across the strings. Instantly the room settled to silence and absorbed attention. June played with an exquisite touch; the strength and fire of an artist, yet with the gentleness of a woman in love. And while she played, she held that roomful of people in the hollow of her hand, as she had held crowded concert halls throughout the country and abroad.

Donald, listening, felt his heart contract a little with pain. He was fully aware of her superb artistry, of her great talent that came so near genius. Had he the right to tie her down to life as the wife of an ordinary man-of-the-mill newspaper man? A man who might never be able to give her more than a small, cheap apartment, a grubby little suburban cottage; worries, bills, heartaches, anxiety—

The music stopped for just a moment. Then it began again—soft, delicate, yet somehow gay and laughing and tender; like a small silver brook chuckling away to itself as it tumbles down a mountain on its way to be swallowed up in the sea. There was, somehow, the scent of small, secret flowers lighting the hidden places in the woods; the joyous song of nest building birds, and the song of a mother to her child—all tangled up in the melody June was playing. When she had finished, the others sat for a moment in complete silence, still gripped by the spell of that lovely melody.

"Thank you, my dear," said Mrs. Edmonds. There were tears in her faded eyes and no girlish coyness in her manner as she put her hand for a moment on the major's knee, to that gentleman's delighted surprise.

"That was beautiful," said "Coralie," her voice shaken. "I don't think I've ever heard it before. Who wrote it?"

June was flushed, bright-eyed, as she tucked the violin into its case. Her eyes turned to Donald's and clung as she said softly, "I did! And it hasn't a name yet. What do you think of 'A Serenade to a Dearly Beloved'?"

Donald stood up and walked to her side. He bent his head and kissed her simply, joyously, as though they were quite alone. And then, with his arm about her, he said to the others, "If you'll excuse us—it's been a lovely evening and a lot of fun!"

Terry and Bill followed, and then Lucy and Orwin.

Mrs. Edmonds was deep in a conversation with Betsy and Tom seized the moment to speak in a low voice to the major.

"If you have a moment, sir—" he suggested and indicated the terrace that lay outside the window. The major looked at him keenly and followed him.

"This prowler that Heath saw, Major—what would you make of that?" asked Tom, without wasting time in preliminaries, or in an attempt to lead gracefully up to the subject.

The major looked at him for a moment before he spoke. "You are taking it for granted that Heath really saw somebody—that he wasn't mistaken?" he suggested.

"I'm afraid he wasn't mistaken," admitted Tom, frowning a little.

Today's Horoscope

Today's birthday celebrants have a year containing few striking events ahead of them. Life will pursue the even tenor of its way, more or less. There will be some pleasant surprises, also some annoyance or sudden loss experienced during this period. The child who is born on this date will have sudden strokes of luck, followed by sharp reversals during his or her life. The reversals, however, will be surmounted by courage and fortitude.

"and yet it seems so cock-eyed. All I have to go on is that a certain very reputable business man wants to buy my share in the island—the controlling interest which was left to me by Mr. Markham on condition that the island be operated as a honeymoon retreat. I feel like a fool suggesting that a man like Morton Blake might attempt to frighten our guests away in the hope of making me sell. Gosh, Major, what a fool thing to suggest! I'm ashamed of myself. The prowler was a fisherman, or some such harmless party—just curious, that's all."

The major nodded, though his eyes were narrowed a little.

"I suppose so. The other suggestion is rather fantastic," he agreed. "Wasn't there a clause in the will providing that the island should be a honeymoon retreat for several years—or at least until danger of a threat of invasion to the United States was over? I seem to remember something of the sort."

"Yes," said Tom. "The newspapers made all sorts of fantastic suggestions and hints and theories about that. But I think the whole truth of the matter was that Mr. Markham was rather sentimental about the island. He had planned it as a honeymoon spot for himself and the girl he loved, but she died on the way to the wedding. I think it was just that he couldn't bear the thought of the island being used for commercial purposes—a winter resort, a gambling casino, and all the rest of it, as Blake had planned it."

"Ah, yes, no doubt that's it," agreed the Major.

The voice of his wife was heard calling, and a moment later they had said good night and gone.

Tom closed the French windows and looked then, while Betsy stood at the front of the stairs, watching him. After a moment she said quietly, "Then there really WAS a prowler?"

"Oh, I don't think so—"

"Then why are you looking up—for the first time since we came to the island?" she demanded.

Tom had no answer to that. So Betsy went quietly about with him, helping him to lock up. When she reached the kitchen, she paused at the door of the refrigerator and looked startled. The door was partly open—and the box had been all but emptied of its provisions.

She and Tom stood for a long moment, staring at the rified box, and then at each other; and neither of them spoke.

Clare Tree Major Play
"Alice in Wonderland", the

Thursday in the Cliftona Theatre under the sponsorship of the Circleville Bundles for Britain unit, was well received by a group of children which almost filled the auditorium. Pupils from city and county schools comprised the enthusiastic audience.

The appearance of Alice in the aisle on her way to the stage was an interesting innovation, her traditional pinafore costume and her straight flaxen hair bound with a black ribbon being quite in keeping with the illustrations of the older editions of the delightful book.

Meeting the White Rabbit on the stage, they go together to the party as the curtains opened to reveal other interesting characters of the book. During the party, the Cheshire Cat of the Duchess appeared and disappeared in a tree to the great mystification of the children.

The Tea Party, with the Mad
Hatter, the March Hare and the Dormouse, was one of the outstanding scenes. Alice joined this party but left when disgusted with the nonsense. The trial of the Knave of Hearts was the least interesting of the many enjoyable scenes.

During the play, Alice and the Griffin made a trip through the audience much to the amusement and entertainment of the children.

Mrs. Emmitt L. Crist, chairman, and other members of the finance committee of the local unit were in charge of the successful affair.

Tiger Track And Golf Teams Are Victorious

Circleville High athletes—track and field team and golf team—won major events Thursday from Columbus Holy Rosary and Columbus University High School, respectively, in competition conducted on out-of-town fields.

The track team was victorious 66 1/2 to 50 1/2 over the Rosary squad despite the fact that the Rosary team's star, Kappas, knocked off three of the sprint events. Ability of the Tigers to pile up points in other events brought the victory.

Freshman Tom Shea and Junior Snow Seymour were the only Tigers able to take two firsts, the former knocking off five points in the broad jump with a leap of 18 feet 4 1/2 inches and tying for the top position with Teammate Jack Hatzio in the pole vault at 9 feet 8 1/2 inches, and the latter winning mile and half mile events.

The golf team had an easy time with the University School club swingers, winning 12 points to zero. The match was played on the Ohio State University Scarlet course, each Circleville boy winning three points. Bob Moon's 85 was the best mark of the day, Johnny Woods getting 90, Frank Geib 94 and Gerald Ayers 95. University school's athletes were Metcalf, Holsher, Kelsner and Dawson.

PREACHER ROE TO JOIN COLUMBUS RED BIRDS
COLUMBUS, April 25—Elwin "Preacher" Roe, scout-hunter, has been acquired from the St. Louis Cardinals, it was announced today by Al Bannister, president of the Columbus club of the American Association. Roe, who is 23 years old, won five and lost eight while pitching for Rochester in the International League last season.

ST. LOUIS, April 25—The Cincinnati Reds thought today that maybe their early season jinx, the St. Louis Cardinals, had been overcome. The Redlegs came from behind yesterday to defeat the Cards, 3 to 2.

In the first three games of the season, the Cardinals stopped the Cincinnati Reds, with victory in two of the contests coming in the ninth frame.

However, things were just reversed yesterday. Bill McGee hurled no-hit ball for the Cards for the first five innings, Ival Goodman breaking the spell with a single in the sixth.

In the seventh, the Reds combined two hits, a base on balls and a stolen base for two runs to knot the count at two all. The Cards had opened the game with single runs in the first and third innings.

In the ninth with the score still tied, Lonnie Frey doubled home the winning run.

Paul Derringer started for the Redlegs but was succeeded in turn by Pitchers Elmer Riddle, Lloyd Moore and Joe Beggs, the latter getting credit for the win. McGee was relieved in the ninth after the damage was done by Mort Cooper.

Manager Bill McKechnie was expected to send Junior Thompson to the mound for the world champions today to oppose Lou Warneke of the Cards.

CHICAGO, April 25—Hank Leiber, Chicago Cubs outfielder and baseball's only remaining holdout, was expected at the Cubs' offices today. He announced before leaving his Phoenix, Ariz., home two days ago that he hoped his salary fight with the Bruins could be ironed out, but insisted his demands would have to be met. James T. Gallagher, general manager of the Cubs, had no comment on the case and it was not known whether the two actually planned to confer.

STEVE JUZWIK INJURED
SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 25—Steve Juzwik, ace halfback, was the first major casualty of Notre Dame's spring football practice today. Juzwik suffered a broken small bone in his left arm just above the wrist in yesterday's scrimmage, and will be out of action until after May 10, when the Irish will end their spring drills.

Tiger Track And Golf Teams Are Victorious

Circleville High athletes—track and field team and golf team—won major events Thursday from Columbus Holy Rosary and Columbus University High School, respectively, in competition conducted on out-of-town fields.

Standings

The track team was victorious 66 1/2 to 50 1/2 over the Rosary squad despite the fact that the Rosary team's star, Kappas, knocked off three of the sprint events. Ability of the Tigers to pile up points in other events brought the victory.

Freshman Tom Shea and Junior Snow Seymour were the only Tigers able to take two firsts, the former knocking off five points in the broad jump with a leap of 18 feet 4 1/2 inches and tying for the top position with Teammate Jack Hatzo in the pole vault at 9 feet 8 1/2 inches, and the latter winning mile and half mile events.

HOUSE PASSES RADCLIFF BILL ELIMINATING HIGHWAY SPEED TRAPS

STATUTE GOES TO SENATE FOR FINAL DECISION

Only State Patrol, Aides Of Sheriffs Empowered To Cite Violations

RECENT ARREST RECALLED

Darby Township Case May Have Brought Governor Into Action

A House bill to eliminate speed traps on Ohio highways by providing that only officers of the state highway patrol and sheriff's deputies may make arrests for traffic violations on main thoroughfares was voted unanimously Thursday in the Ohio General Assembly. The measure, sponsored by Representative William D. Radcliff, of Pickaway County, means that power of constables to make arrests on state roads will be ended except in cases involving school buses.

Radcliff introduced his measure early in the session, but no action was taken on it until this week. It goes to the Senate now for final approval, and then to Governor John Bricker, if passed, where it is understood the governor stands ready to sign the statute.

Ohio has 2,000 constables whose powers on state highways will be removed.

Darby Case Recalled

The possibility was seen Friday that recent arrest of the husband of Governor Bricker's private secretary on the CCC highway in Darby Township might have had something to do with speeding the bill through the legislature. Constable John Stage of Darby Township on April 6 arrested William Russell Henry of Columbus for reckless operation on the CCC highway. Henry admitted guilt in Justice of Peace Charles Kain's court and was fined $2 and costs of $10.25. He was given 10 days to pay. Kain received a communication advising the constable to collect the fine and costs at Governor Bricker's office, and by the time the constable traveled into Columbus with a writ of execution the costs had reached $17.65. Bricker, flying the arrest, paid the fine and costs with a $20 bill.

Stage reported this week that the Governor had since written to the justice of peace court asking for certification of the record in the Henry arrest. The constable said also that the governor told him he thought it was about time to do something about the "speed trap" bill. It was only a few days later that the Radcliff measure was sent through the House without a dissenting vote.

Fayette Aroused

Many Fayette Countians have charged that a speed trap has been operating in Darby Township and newspapers in Washington C. H. have issued warnings time and again against violations of the speed laws in the Pickaway County district.

Another alleged trap that has cost Circleville drivers many dollars has been operating south of Columbus in the Shadeville district where a constable has been unusually active. Many Circleville drivers who travel to Columbus often go through Groveport evading the danger of arrest at Shadeville for a minor violation of the law.

WASHINGTON C. H. SEEKS TO SAVE POLICE FUNDS

WASHINGTON C. H., April 25—Steps are being taken by City Solicitor Norman McLean to salvage a portion of police court receipts for the city's badly depleted operating expense fund, instead of handing them over to the Fayette County Law Library Association. Under state law, a certain amount of money received from fines is to be paid the law library.

To Present Program

THE Rev. and Mrs. Larason and son, Blissfield, will present a sacred concert Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at the St. John Evangelical Church, Stoutsville. Musical selections will include vocal trios, duets and solos and piano solos and duets. The public is invited to attend the services.

Using Witnessing Power

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Newman Campbell
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for April 27 is Acts 4:32-7-60, the Golden Text being Acts 4:32, "And the multitude of them that believed were of one heart and soul.")

THE SPIRIT of the early church was a fine and lovely thing. All the members loved one another, and shared what they had with one another. No one spoke of his own possessions, but "they had all things in common." None of the followers were in need, for those that owned property sold it and gave to the more needy brothers according to their needs.

As is usual with imperfect man, however, there were those among them who cheated and lied. Such were Ananias and his wife, Sapphira. They, too, sold their possessions, but instead of laying the proceeds at the feet of the apostles as the others had done, they kept back some of it. When Ananias was questioned by Peter as to whether he had given all, he said he had, but Peter knew he lied, and said, "Ananias, why hath Satan filled thine heart to lie to the Holy Ghost and to keep back part of the price of the land?"

A great fear fell on Ananias when he heard this question, and he fell down at the apostle's feet and died, and was carried out by four young men and buried. Three hours later Sapphira, not knowing what had happened to her husband came in and Peter asked her about the money, if that was all they received. She, too, said it was, and Peter accused her of conspiring with her husband to cheat them. At that she fell down at his feet and died, as her husband had, and the same young men carried her out and buried her beside her husband.

Many Are Healed

Multitudes of men and women joined the band of believers on the Lord Jesus Christ, and they brought their sick, those afflicted in body and mind, to be healed by the apostles. If they could not reach the apostles, they tried to lay those afflicted so that Peter's shadow would fall upon them, thinking that even his shadow would heal them.

"Then the high priest rose up, and all they that were with him (which is the sect of the Sadducees), and were filled with indignation, and laid hands on the apostles, and put them in the common prison. But the angel of the Lord opened the prison doors, and brought them out, and said unto them, 'Go, stand and speak the word of the Lord, for the Lord is willing to bless you.'

Lord by night opened the prison doors and brought them forth."

You can imagine the consternation of the high priests when their guards announced that although the prison was still locked, the apostles had gone, and were, moreover, at that moment teaching in the temple.

Sending the captain and officers to the temple they took the apostles, but without violence, for they were afraid of what the common people might do, and brought them to court and asked them why they were preaching in defiance of their orders. The answer was: "We ought to obey God rather than man."

They further expounded their message, and when they had finished speaking, the high priests took counsel how to slay them. However, a man named Gamaliel stood up and addressed them. He was a learned doctor of the law. He sent the apostles aside and warned the high priests against any violence. He reminded them that other men had risen and taught various doctrines and gathered disciples, but all had been slain or otherwise dispersed, and he ended his address by saying, "Refrain from these men, and let them alone; for if this counsel or this work be of men, it will come to naught; but if it be of God, ye cannot overthrow it; lest haply ye be found even to fight against God."

They agreed to its views, beating the disciples and letting them go. And the apostles went home, rejoicing that they were considered worthy to suffer shame for His name.

Now the Grecian Jews complained about this time that their widows were not receiving their rightful share of the charity, so the apostles appointed seven men to right this injustice. Among them was Stephen, who was full of faith and power.

His wisdom and the spirit in which Stephen spoke was irresistible, so the high priests bribed men to say that he blasphemed, and brought him to council. False witnesses testified against him, but all those who sat in the council chamber saw his face "as it had been the face of an angel." The chief priest asked Stephen if the things that were testified against him were so, and he gave the most remarkable sermon and one of the longest recorded in the book of Acts. He reminded them of the history of the Jews; how they had always rebelled against God and even set up idols of worship, and killed those whom God had sent to them. When he had finished the officials of the church "were cut to the heart, and they gnashed on him with their teeth."

With one accord they rushed upon him and stoned him to death, the first martyr. Stephen looked up steadfastly into heaven and "saw the glory of God and Jesus standing on the right hand of God." "He kneeled down, and cried with a loud voice, Lord, lay not this sin to their charge. And when he had said this, he fell asleep."

They agreed to its views, beating the disciples and letting them go. And the apostles went home, rejoicing that they were considered worthy to suffer shame for His name.

Now the Grecian Jews complained about this time that their widows were not receiving their rightful share of the charity, so the apostles appointed seven men to right this injustice. Among them was Stephen, who was full of faith and power.
